BUSINESS QUICK START GUIDE FOR FOREIGN BANKING ORGANIZATIONS

To open an office in California, a foreign banking organization (FBO) must apply for a license from the Department of Financial Protection and Innovation, and the Federal Reserve Bank. There are several, different license types that a FBO may apply for:

- Representative Office – engages in representational functions only; does not conduct a commercial banking office
- Non depository Agency – may transact commercial banking business, but does not accept deposits
- Depository Agency – may transact commercial banking business and accept foreign deposits
- Limited Branch Office – may transact commercial banking business, accept foreign deposits and deposits that a corporation organized under Section 25A of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. Sec. 612 et seq.) is permitted to accept.
- Wholesale Branch Office – may transact commercial banking business, accept foreign deposits and domestic deposits of greater than $250,000.

Below is a list of state and federal requirements that may apply to these business types.

AT THE STATE AND FEDERAL LEVEL:

- Department of Financial Protection and Innovation (DFPI) – FBOs must obtain a license from DFPI. Listed below is the information.
 - DFPI Licensing: a copy of the Reg K application to the Federal Reserve Bank is submitted to the DFPI. If the Federal Reserve Bank only requires a notice, then an application is submitted to DFPI using the Reg K format. In addition, FBOs complete Form DFPI 55 to designate the Commissioner as agent for service of process. <https://dfpi.ca.gov/foreign-other-nation-banks/>
- Federal Reserve Bank (FRB) – FBOs must obtain a license from the FRB. Typically, the application would be filed with the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco if the California office will be the applicant's first office in the US. If the applicant already has a home state in another federal reserve district, the application would be filed in that district. In some instances, only a notice is required.

- For Employers – If your business will have employees, be advised of the following:
 - Wages, Hours, & Working Conditions – Businesses with employees must comply with laws establishing minimum standards for wages, hours, and working conditions. Consult the California Department of Industrial Relations website at: <https://www.dir.ca.gov/dlse/>
 - Worker's Compensation – Businesses with employees must maintain Worker's Compensation Insurance coverage. Consult the California Department of Industrial Relations website at: <https://www.dir.ca.gov/dwc/>
 - Employment Development Department (EDD) Registration – An employer is required to file a Registration Form within 15 days after paying more than $100 in wages to one or more employees. Please consult the California EDD website at http://www.edd.ca.gov/Payroll_Taxes/Am_I_Required_to_Register_as_an_Employer.htm#business_subject.
 - Federal Employer Identification Number (EIN) – Employers with employees, business partnerships, and corporations, must obtain a Federal EIN from the IRS. Businesses can obtain appropriate federal income tax forms from this location. Please consult the IRS website at: <https://www.irs-ein-tax-id.com/>

AT THE LOCAL LEVEL:

- Business License – Most local governments require a business license (or business tax registration). If your business is in incorporated city, contact the city. If your business is in unincorporated area, contact the county.
- Zoning – Whether yours will be a home-based business or will occupy commercial space, consult your local planning department to be sure your business activities are permitted. If your business is in incorporated city, contact the city. If your business is in unincorporated area, contact the county.
- Fictitious Business Name – A Fictitious Business Name or Doing Business As (DBA) statement is required when: the business name does not include the surname of the individual owner(s) and each of the partners; the business name suggests the existence of additional owners; or the nature of the business is not evident by the name of the business. This is always obtained from the county in which a business is located.
- Small Business Development Center – You can also check in with your local Small Business Development Center (SBDC) as well. The SBDCs assist small businesses in starting or growing and offer free advice and consulting. To find an SBDC closest to you, click this link and enter your zip code: <http://americassbdc.org/home/find-your-sbdc/>, they may be better equipped to advise you on local requirements.
- Charitable Solicitation Requirements – Many California cities and counties have passed charitable solicitation ordinances to protect their citizens against fraudulent solicitation. These ordinances may require charities and charitable fundraisers to register, certify their tax-exempt status, obtain a license to solicit, and file accountings of fundraising proceeds. Most California counties and large cities maintain a charitable solicitation licensing office. It may be a separate department or part of the police or sheriff's department. For city and county contact information, please contact them.

ONLINE PERMIT ASSISTANCE TOOL:

You can use our online permit assistance tool, CalGOLD (www.calgold.ca.gov), to identify local, state, and federal permit information for businesses. The online tool provides webpage links, application forms, and contact information for the various agencies that administer and issue these permits. For permits and registrations administered by the State of California, CalGOLD also includes a Forms and Fee Finder with direct links to applications and fee information. Once at the website, input your city and type of business. If your business is not listed, you can select "General Business Information" for a list of general requirements.

PROP 65:

Proposition 65, officially known as the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, requires businesses to provide a clear and reasonable warning before knowingly and intentionally exposing anyone to chemicals that are known to cause cancer or birth defects or other reproductive harm. It is important to know that a product that receives certification from the United States Food and Drug Administration, or another federal agency or state agency, is not necessarily exempt from California requirements for chemical exposure warnings. Businesses should be aware of the levels of harmful chemicals in their products and of applicable Proposition 65 requirements.
